

Executive Coach & Facilitator, Kuala Lumpur & Singapore

About this Coach

This executive coach is based in Kuala Lumpur and Singapore, understands what it is like to be in senior leadership positions. As the former General Manager of Gulf Bank and COO of RHB Bank, he leverages his C-suite experience to coach senior executives from various industries. His ontological coaching approach is holistic and effective. He aims to help his clients discover all that is within themselves and to visualise and realise new ideas and possibilities. His approach taps deeply into their inner awareness and helps them develop new ways of seeing challenging situations. This is important to him as he believes that leaders often do not only need to change their behaviour, but they need to create a different mindset to sustain that change in order to enable them to produce and accelerate positive business outcomes.

As a coach, he brings a global perspective with over thirty years of multinational experience on three different continents, having worked with leaders in both MNCs and local organizations.

As for his background, he was raised in Shanghai, educated in Hong Kong, England and the United States and has an MBA from Carnegie Mellon University. He speaks fluent English, Cantonese and Mandarin and has the unique combination of both a Western management style/philosophy and an Asian heritage.
